RMB finances the Amandi Power Station in Ghana

Rand Merchant Bank acted as joint mandated lead arranger for the financing of the new Amandi gas-fired power station in Ghana, which will add 200MW of generation capacity to Ghana's national grid. RMB helped develop a bespoke financing solution for the project, using its expertise as the leading power financier in West Africa. RMB is proud to have been involved in helping to deliver this important piece of infrastructure for the country and the region.
