RMB successfully banked a R200-million hydro power deal for NuPlanet

Innovative sustainable energy solutions require innovative financing solutions. Generating electricity from a pipeline that provides drinking water to Johannesburg, the new hydro power plant will supply hydroelectricity that will be available 95% of the year. Rand Merchant Bank provided the first financing of an Engineering, Procurement and Construction Management based project under the government's renewable energy programme. Beneficiaries will include local communities, churches and schools.
